Learning Outcomes

Comprehend reading materials centered around day-to-day activities and personal well-being.

Apply relevant English vocabulary and phrases associated with sleep hygiene, health, achievements, and daily habits.

Articulate their personal views and emotions on various subjects using the English language.

Draft brief compositions, reflective journals, and outlines of upcoming plans in English.

Compose a personal letter detailing their long-term objectives (specifically for the 'Letter to 2035' project).

Analyze, interpret, and deliberate upon data gathered from surveys.

Deliver presentations based on data and findings collected from research assignments.

Interact and cooperate effectively with classmates within virtual platforms.

Engage constructively in web-based conferences and group conversations.

Enhance analytical reasoning and problem-solving capabilities by participating in project work.

Examine diverse cultural perspectives to foster a stronger sense of cross-cultural awareness.

Assume personal accountability during group tasks and the co-creation of shared projects.

Utilize English functionally as a primary medium for real-world communication.

Refine their communication, teamwork, and practical life skills through hands-on, project-based learning.